

LLM PROGRAM

THE PROGRAM

Indiana University Maurer School of Law has been granting graduate degrees to international lawyers for more than 100 years, in LLM, MCL, SJD, and PhD programs. Our internationally respected Master of Laws (LLM) program offers highly qualified and academically outstanding students the opportunity to pursue advanced legal studies in a rigorous but supportive environment. The Law School is currently ranked 34th in the United States and is one of the top 15 public law schools in the country, according to US News & World Report.

Indiana Law's LLM degree is primarily for international students and is our most popular graduate degree option, requiring one academic year in residence. We currently offer both the traditional LLM (24 credit hours) as well as an LLM with thesis (30 credit hours) for students planning to pursue doctoral studies.

SIX SPECIALIZATIONS

Indiana Law LLM students can choose from several specialized areas of study that suit interests and career goals. We currently offer specializations in the following areas:

- Business and commercial law
- Financial regulation and capital markets
- Information privacy and cybersecurity law
- Intellectual property law (general or patent law focus)
- American law (general or bar exam focus)
- International and comparative law and globalization

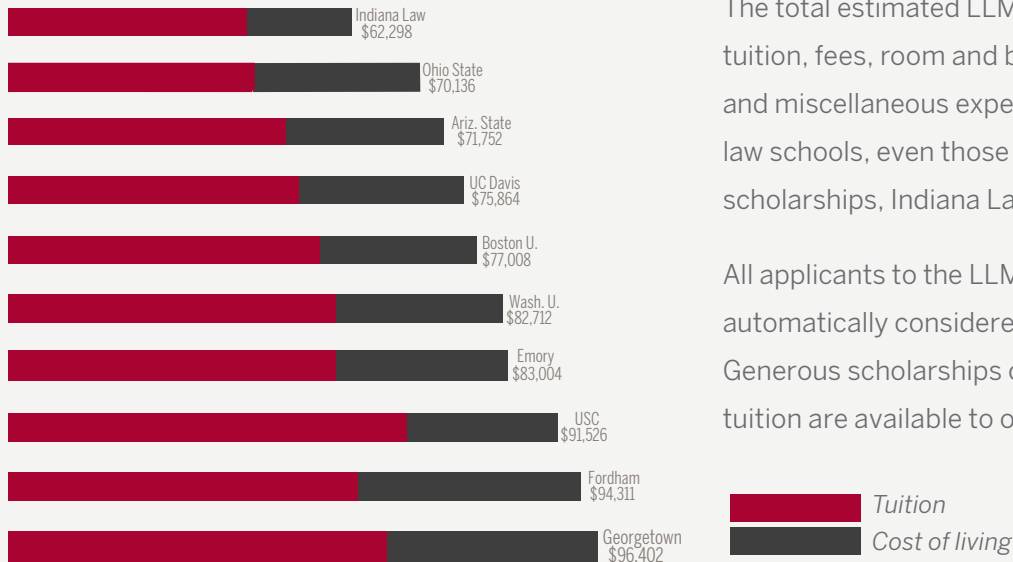

LLM PROGRAM

ADDITIONAL GRADUATE DEGREE OPPORTUNITIES

The Law School also offers other degree options, including an MCL, an SJD, a PhD in law and democracy, and three pathways for pursuing the JD degree. More information about these programs can be found at law.indiana.edu/graduate.

COSTS AND SCHOLARSHIPS

The total estimated LLM cost is $62,298, including tuition, fees, room and board, health insurance, and miscellaneous expenses. Compared to other law schools, even those offering higher scholarships, Indiana Law is often less expensive.

All applicants to the LLM program are automatically considered for scholarships. Generous scholarships of up to 50% off base tuition are available to outstanding applicants.

THE CAMPUS

The Law School is located in Bloomington, on Indiana University’s flagship campus. Bloomington is a small, yet sophisticated city that offers the amenities of big city life with the comfort and accessibility of a small town. Shopping, transportation, cultural opportunities, and plenty of international restaurants abound. You will feel right at home.

APPLICATIONS ARE NOW OPEN

We invite you to apply to the Indiana University Maurer School of Law’s prestigious LLM program. Students may choose to start the LLM program in the fall or spring semester. For more information, and to request an application fee waiver, contact the Office of Graduate Legal Studies at lgradadm@indiana.edu or 812.856.7217.